"An intricate investigation of how the reality of conflict gets filtered through personal, political, and journalistic narrative...This workâ€œquiet but challenging, plain yet beautifulâ€œexemplifies [Glidden's] skillful, sensitive reportage."â€œLibrary Journal Starred Review

Cartoonist Sarah Glidden accompanies her two friendsâ€œreporters and founders of a journalism non-profitâ€œas they research potential stories on the effects of the Iraq War on the Middle East and, specifically, the warâ€™s refugees. Joining the trio is a childhood friend and former Marine whose past service in Iraq adds an unexpected and sometimes unwelcome viewpoint, both to the people they come across and perhaps even themselves.

As the crew works their way through Turkey, Iraq, and Syria, Glidden observes the reporters as they ask civilians, refugees, and officials, â€œWho are you?â€œ Everyone has a story to tell: the Iranian blogger, the United Nations refugee administrator, a taxi driver, the Iraqi refugee deported from the US, the Iraqis seeking refuge in Syria, and even the American Marine.

Glidden (How to Understand Israel in 60 Days or Less) records all that she encounters with a sympathetic and searching eye. Painted in her trademark soft, muted watercolors and written with a self-effacing humor, Rolling Blackouts cements Gliddenâ€™s place as one of todayâ€™s most original nonfiction voices.
