M.Tech (IT) Syllabus * NUES . The student will submit a synopsis at the beginning of the semester for approval from the departmental committee in a specified format. The student will have to present the progress of the work through seminars and progress reports. Mathematical Problems in Engineering - hindawi.com Pixels in diagonal direction on two rows represent the probable edge direction. By comparing the absolute difference of luminance values among the pixels in diagonal direction, the correlation of pixels in diagonal direction and interpolated pixel could be determined. ICRTES About the Conference "International Conference on Recent Trends in Engineering & Sciences" invites you to share your research with us. The selected and registered papers are encouraged by submitting them for Reputed Journal.
